Washington Star Praises

McClellan's Conduct in

McCarthy-Army Hearing

The Washington (D. C.) Star on April 29 made Arkansas senator, John L. McClellan, the subject of an appreciative feature story, clipping of same having been sent me by my sister, Mrs. Clark H. Yeager, who lives in Washington.

Mary McGrory, staff writer for The Star, summed up McClellan as follows:

The senior Senator from Arkansas conspicuously takes no part in the by-play and chit-chat that so often figure in the hearings. Nor does he indulge in personalities, although there are those who say that when he was quizzing Roy Cohn about the famous "doctored" photograph of Secretary Stevens and Pvt. Schine, the gleam in his eye was visible at 20 paces.

From the very first, Senator McClellan has established the fact that he wants to expedite the hearings. By now, it is also plain that the ranking Democrat is Senator McCarthy's most formidable foe on the subcommittee.

Can Outshoot McCarthy.

Besides the tactics learned as a county prosecutor, he commands another important asset for proceedings of this nature. He can, if need be, outshoot Senator McCarthy.

A stickler for rules, the Senator fights hard on every occasion to include only relevant evidence.

When Senator McCarthy produced a "security risk" in the person of a witness' brother, Senator McClellan said sarcastically, "Let us have a ruling on this, because we may be trying members of everybody's family involved before we get through."

Mr. McClellan generally dedicates himself to a point a day, and it is usually a devastating one. He circles over it like a hawk, and then he pounces.

It was he who made the motion to have the hotly disputed monitored telephone conversations placed in evidence, persisting with Senator McCarthy balking all the way.

Like Dark Thundercloud.

With his black hair, saturnine countenance and black-rimmed glasses, he has sometimes the menacing aspect of a thundercloud. In fact his mien can be so forbidding, his voice so stern, that he visibly frightens even people he is trying to help.

The other day, the Senator spent the afternoon bringing out the fact that Secretary Stevens, if he wanted to appease Senator McCarthy and his friends, could have commissioned G. David Schine out of hand. When he went to drive home the point with a direct question to Mr. Stevens, he stated it so accusingly that the Secretary quailed.

He did, however, manage to say, "I never would do that, Senator," and the point was made.

Even yesterday during his self-imposed abstinence from questions, Senator McClellan rushed into the breach at the psychological moment. Because all other Senators had passed, Senator McClellan was by way of getting a half an hour of uninterrupted time to work over Secretary Stevens. Senator McClellan broke up this tete-a-tete in a hurry.

Such tactics have made the Arkansas who is running for re-election this year, the hero of anti-McCarthy forces.

They can't see where he passed up a single chance to give the junior Senator from Wisconsin a bad time.

5 Pop-Drinking Bandits Get $185,000

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — Five pop-drinking bandits attired in gaudy Mardi-Gras-type costumes captured a three-ton safe in a supermarket here today and escaped with the biggest haul in city criminal records — an estimated $185,000 in cash, checks and watches.

The bandits staged the daring robbery after they tied up and gagged the night watchman and threatened to kill him if he called for help.

Apparently sipping soda while they worked, the bandits then took three hours to break open the market's safe. Police found that the criminal division of the Jefferson parish sheriff's office said the safe cracker escaped with $50,000 in cash, $80,000 in checks and 100 watches and jewelry valued at $70,000.

Roy Centanni, 50-year-old night watchman of the store, the Schwegmann Brothers supermarket, said two of the costumed bandits first took him to a wooded area near the store where one held him, while confederates removed the huge safe to the center of the establishment.

P. WEISENBERGER

Weisenberger Ends 7 Years as Deputy

Upon his resignation as Deputy Prosecuting Attorney of Hempstead County having been accepted by Prosecuting Attorney G. W. Lookadoo, Royce Weisenberger, who has served four years as Deputy under James H. Pilkinton and until now under Mr. Lookadoo, issued the following statement:

"I submitted my resignation the day I mailed my pledge as a candidate for Prosecuting Attorney to the proper official, but continued to act officially until a successor was appointed. For the first time in over seven years I am not connected officially with law enforcement in Hempstead County. However, it was necessary for me to resign in order to make this race in Miller, Nevada, Lafayette, Clark and Hempstead Counties.

"I want to express my thanks to all the officials, jurors and citizens with whom I had the pleasure of working as Deputy Prosecuting Attorney. They have been most cooperative. So have the newspapers and radio. Some Hope lawyers have served longer than I have as Deputy Prosecuting Attorney. Yet I am confident that our citizens will understand my ambition to be their Prosecuting Attorney after this much service as Deputy.

"Whether I am elected or not, I shall maintain a firm and impartial interest in law enforcement and the work of the Prosecuting Attorney's office. I wish my successor every success in his new office and urge all to extend to him the same courtesy and assistance given to me. Respectfully submitted, Royce Weisenberger.

A severe rainstorm, accompanied by lightning and high winds, hit this section early Sunday but little damage resulted and only one person was hurt.

A flash of lightning shattered a mirror at the home of C. C. Spragins. Broken glass cut Mr. Spragins about the face, wrist and shoulder. He was taken to Branch Hospital for treatment and was given a blood transfusion. However, he will be released from the hospital today.

Another bolt set fire to the home of W. E. Bruner but the blaze was put out before serious damage could result.

Some damage was reported in the Bodew and Blevins areas. However, damage in Hope was slight. The Water and Light plant lost one transformer and some limbs on lines caused slight damage.

Stevens Denies Covering Up for Anybody

By RAYMONDLAH R. and HERBERT FOSTER

WASHINGTON (UP) — Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens denied today that he would "cover up" for anybody who might mishandle cases of subversion in the army.

"I want to make it clear that I'm not covering up for anybody at anytime," he told Senate investigators.

Stevens' flareup came during the eighth day of the Senate investigations subcommittee's inquiry into the Army-McCarthy charges and counter-charges.

The army secretary's protest was directed at McCarthy, whom he said, had repeatedly charged the Army with "covering up."

The Wisconsin Republican also has accused Stevens with trying to impede investigations of subversives in the Army.

One phase of McCarthy's questioning of Stevens involved the honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress, an Army dentist described as a "fifth Aemomment Communist" by the Sisson senator.

It was interrupted frequently by legislative wangles in which subcommittee Counsel Ray H. Jenkins insisted that the present investigation could not pass on the merits of the Peress case.

The eighth day of testimony produced these other highlights:

1. Stevens asserted he cannot recall ever notifying McCarthy that he was awaiting only the senator's approval before removing Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton as commander of Fort Monmouth, N. J.

2. The secretary said he has no information to back up some news dispatches which stated that Schine enjoyed flight mignon and champagne at the Sotik Club in New York when he should have been "peeling potatoes" at Fort Dix, N. J., during basic training last November.

3. Stevens insisted he could not recall having asked that McCarthy's Fort Monmouth investigation — of alleged Communist espionage at the New Jersey Radar laboratories — be stopped. He has testified before that he did want McCarthy to suspend his investigation so the Army could make its own inquiry.

4. Special Army Counsel Joseph N. Welch offered to let the lagging hearings be wound up with testimony by Stevens, McCarthy, and perhaps a couple of other witnesses. Welch made the offer during a 20-minute subcommittee discussion of how to expedite the investigation. McCarthy, however, said he could not tell at this stage how many witnesses his side will call.

Stevens acknowledged that, in a letter to McCarthy made public by the Army, he had said the Army should not give an honorable discharge to a man who refused to answer proper questions of a congressional committee. McCarthy said he received the letter Feb. 16, 1954.

Stevens said he first heard of the Peress case in a memorandum given him at a fuel stop in California when he was returning from the Far East early in February. Peress had been discharged a day before Stevens reached Washington.

McCarthy asked if the memorandum told who was responsible for Peress' honorable discharge. Stevens replied that he did not recall that it did.

Tornadoes Leave 27 Dead, Wake of Destruction

By United Press

A vicious storm front rolled toward the Atlantic Coast today after hitting the Mississippi Valley during the weekend with 49 tornadoes, torrential rains, and a weird May blizzard.

The storm left at least 27 persons dead, including eight in Mississippi, five in Nebraska, four in Oklahoma and Illinois, three in Minnesota, two in Missouri and one in Louisiana.

Oklahoma alone counted 20 tornadoes Saturday with two persons killed and 46 injured. Among the towns battered by twisters were Grandfield, Shawnee, Stroud, Meeker, Pawnee, Tipton, Davenport, Big Spring, Snyder and Sparks.

Heavy homes were demolished at Meeker. Eighteen persons were injured in a path 35 miles long and four miles wide between Shawnee and Stroud.

Heavy downpours throughout the Mississippi Valley caused sharp flooding in many areas. A 13-year-old girl drowned when she was swept into a flooded creek near Minco, Okla., and a 21-year-old youth was drowned when his bicycle threw him into rain-swollen small creek near Carlin.

Snow fell over most of Minnesota and part of the Dakotas yesterday. It reached a depth of seven inches at many points and a small-scale blizzard developed at Bemidji, Minn.

Roads were treacherous in the snow area and many of the storm victims lost their lives on slick highways or in poor visibility.

Orville Freeman, Democratic Farmer-Labor candidate for governor of Minnesota, was hurt slightly in a crack up that also injured his wife and another woman near Eveleth, Minn.

Temperatures plummeted as the storm swept eastward. Below freezing temperatures were recorded at many northern cities.

The Mississippi was swelling toward a crest 2 1/2 feet above flood stage at Atkin, Minn., and the Chippewa River in Wisconsin was 1/2 feet above flood.

Fifteen families were forced from their homes at Eau Claire, Wis., and five more at Durand.

The rising Chippewa river trapped two families in the Careyville, Wis., area and two amphibious army craft predece to try to rescue them today.

New tornadoes struck yesterday in a narrow band from Texas north to Iowa and east to Mansfield, O., where two "baby" funnels were sighted within 10 minutes of each other.

The weekend's twisters brought the nation's total of confirmed and unconfirmed funnels to almost 60 for the last eight days.

East and West Virtually Agreed on Conference for Indochina Peace

Rebels Suddenly Halt 3rd Drive Against French

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The Communist-led Vietnamese halted their third massive infantry assault on Dien Bien Phu last night. The brother for the weary and battered French Union defenders ended today.

A terse French high command communique early today said the night at the besieged northwest Indochina fortress was "calm," with only "light harassments" of key French positions by rebel artillery and mortars.

The French took immediate advantage of the slack in the fighting to parachute tons of ammunition and supplies into the beleaguered fortress.

There was no immediate explanation for the rebel pullback, a startling development since previous reports of the fighting had indicated the Vietnamese probably could overrun the besieged French position whenever they threw the bulk of their much greater numbers into the charge.

The Vietnamese had launched their third wave-in-wave infantry assault on the fortress Saturday night.

Before they broke off their wild charges from all sides of the sunken French perimeter, the rebels had choked off three more of the strongpoints guarding the bunker command headquarters of French Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries and also overrun a "belle," an isolated outpost three miles south of the main fortress defenses.

The Supreme Court ruled that Mrs. Catherine Smith had waited too long to file a claim for workmen's compensation in connection with the death of her son, Homer Smith.

The ruling reversed Bradley Circuit Court, and affirmed and earlier order of the Workmen's Compensation Commission.

Mrs. Smith had sought compensation from W. L. Little, employer of her son when he was injured fatally in a traffic collision on Sept. 29, 1950. Claims for payment must be filed within a year after the death of an employee.

Hot Springs Circuit Court was affirmed in awarding a $490 judgment for Grady A. Knowles against Paul Hagan as the outgrowth of a truck collision.

Primaries in Five States Tuesday

By LYLE C. WISON

WASHINGTON (UP) — Primary elections tomorrow in five states deal mostly with peculiarly local issues to the exclusion of the head-line news of the day such as Indochina, McCarthy versus the Army and the Geneva Conference.

The elections will take place in Ohio, Indiana, Florida, Alabama and New Mexico. Primaries already have been held in New Jersey and Illinois.

New Mexico's primary will be under conditions little changed from those of 1952 which produced charges of fraud and illegal voting after a $200,000 Senate investigation.

Gov. Edwin L. Mechem is unpopular in New Mexico's Republican senatorial primary and Democratic Sen. Clinton P. Anderson is unpopular for renomination. But there is an angry Republican factional fight in which rebellious young state legislators seek to break Mechem's hold on the state organization. Democratic candidates for New Mexico's two house seats at large are unopposed. There is a three-way Republican contest.

Dickenson's Fate Up to 8-Man Group

WASHINGTON (UP) — An eight-man military tribunal began deliberating the fate of Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson today.

The 23-year-old Cracker Neck, Pa. soldier, is accused of having been a collaborator and informed while prisoner of war in North Korea. He returned to this country after first rejecting and accepting repatriation.

The eight members of the court martial began their deliberations after a 45-minute charge from Col. Richard F. Scarborough, army legal officer who presided over the proceedings. Scarborough told the court it must find Dickenson innocent of any of the seven counts for which there is a reasonable doubt of guilt.

The court took the case at 10:09 a. m. EDT.

Dickenson faces a possible life sentence if six or more of the court martial find him guilty. The Army waived the death sentence before the trial opened.

High Court Sets Aside a Divorce

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today rejected the appeal of Dr. George C. Coffey, Hot Springs physician who asked that a divorce obtained by his former wife, Cora, be set aside.

Chancellor Sam Garratt granted an absolute divorce last Oct. 31 to Mrs. Coffey on the ground of indignities, he charged. Coffey awarded one third of Dr. Coffey's real and personal property, and $200 a month permanent alimony to Mrs. Coffey.

The couple was married in 1922 and lived together at Hot Springs until Dec. 4, 1952.

In affirming the Garland County chancellor's decision, the Supreme Court dismissed Dr. Coffey's contention that corroboration of Mrs. Coffey's testimony was insufficient. Corroboration is required "to prevent the procuring of divorces through collusion and when it is plain there is no collusion the corroboration may be comparatively slight," said the court.

The Supreme Court upheld, Joe B. Rye's title to a lot in Hot Springs of Ruffa Perry.

A finding of Garland Chancery Court was affirmed by the decision. However, the Supreme Court ordered a new trial of the case on the question of damages and a settlement concerning two houses which extend over border lines of the lot.

The chancellor had awarded $1,078 in damages to Rye. The Supreme Court said this amount was excessive.

The Supreme Court ruled that Mrs. Catherine Smith had waited too long to file a claim for workmen's compensation in connection with the death of her son, Homer Smith.

The ruling reversed Bradley Circuit Court, and affirmed and earlier order of the Workmen's Compensation Commission.

Mrs. Smith had sought compensation from W. L. Little, employer of her son when he was injured fatally in a traffic collision on Sept. 29, 1950. Claims for payment must be filed within a year after the death of an employee.

Hot Springs Circuit Court was affirmed in awarding a $490 judgment for Grady A. Knowles against Paul Hagan as the outgrowth of a truck collision.

Steelworkers to Complete Demands

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The CIO United Steelworkers 170-member Wage Policy Committee comes here Thursday and Friday to put finishing touches on the unions' contract demands before starting negotiations with the nation's basic steel industry.

The committee's final draft undoubtedly will include demands for a wage increase and improvements in the present insurance and pension programs. But few observers expect any serious effort to be made for a guaranteed annual wage.

The big industry, which has granted seven rounds of wage hikes since World War II, is feeling the pinch of a business lag for the first time in several years and this is expected to weaken union bargaining power.

Only recently, David J. McDermott, president of the steelworkers, told the unions 39-member Executive Board that steel production is down more than he expected it to go.

Million Dollar Wind Damage

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Damage estimates range up to a million dollars today in the wake of two tornadoes and twisters which hit Oklahoma over the weekend taking four lives and injuring at least 25.

Latest reports showed twisters were seen at or struck 29 communities. A fifty death was indirectly caused by the weather.

Billy Shearler, 30, and his 24-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Anna Shearler, were killed as they tried to outrun a tornado in a truck near Grandfield in southwest Oklahoma.

The twister caught up with the truck, demolished it and killed both occupants.

NEW YORK (U.S.)—The stock market exhibited a lower tendency today in subdued trading.
 The effort today represented a consolidation action following the 24-year highs reached last week. The market started generally lower, and it continued in that vein into the early afternoon. Issues included chemicals, copper, radio-television, farm implements, motors and steels.

Opponent Slams at Mr. Cherry

SHERIDAN (AP)—Gus McMillan says that "if Francis Cherry can show me a single industry he has brought into the state I'll get out of the governor's race right now."

The Sheridan candidate told his audience Gov. Cherry "has been turning off to New York, spending your money and then trying to tell you he's getting industries for the state."

McMillan teamed with another candidate, state Sen. Guy Jones of Conway, in denouncing the incumbent, his administration and his alleged personal aloofness.

Jones was the only one of McMillan's four opponents, including Cherry, who accepted an invitation to share the speaker's platform at the Sheridan real estate dealer's formal campaign opener here Saturday night.

McMillan and Jones expressed only the highest regard for each other.

Neither mentioned the remaining two candidates, Orval Faubus of Springfield and J. M. Myers of Springdale.

Jones, the first to speak, said the only reason he'd heard advanced for renomination of Cherry is "that he's running for a second term."

Jones declared that Cherry isn't "the real governor."

Congressmen Disagree on U.S. Policy

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional comment made it clear today that Secretary of State Dulles, rebuffed abroad in his plea for "united action against communism in Indochina, will be greeted with a welter of conflicting advice when he returns to the United States.

Dulles, due back from the Geneva conference tomorrow, is scheduled for a round of talks with congressional leaders and administration officials over what to do about the Red threat to strategic Southeast Asia. Differences of opinion were evident both among congressmen and within the administration.

Senate Majority Leader Knowland of California in an interview Saturday called on the United States to move at once for a coalition defense against communism in Asia, even if this means acting without one of her major allies.

This was an obvious reference to Britain, whose Prime Minister Churchill has turned down a Dulles bid for a united front of 10 powers interested in Southeast Asia, including both the United States and Britain, in advance of talks with the Communists at Geneva. U. S. officials here said yesterday that prospects of direct American intervention in Indochina are virtually ruled out unless Britain agrees to a coalition.

Repeating his criticism of British policy, Knowland said on a Du Mont TV show last night the United States has the right to know which of our allies are prepared to stand up with us and be counted.

Democrats to Vote Continues High Supports

By VINCENT J. BURKE

WASHINGTON (UP)—Democratic leader Sam Rayburn predicted today that most House Democrats will vote to continue the rigid high price supports for basic farm crops which President Eisenhower wants scrapped.

The Texas Democrat challenged the administration's contention that farm income would be higher in the long run if flexible supports ranging from 75 to 90 percent of parity were substituted for the present mandatory 90 percent supports.

He said he doesn't believe farm prices would go higher if government support prices were set lower. On the contrary, he said, "the minimum support price tends to become the maximum price."

Regardless of the outcome in Congress, the firm stand taken by the administration has made the level of farm price supports an almost certain party issue for the congressional elections next November. And many Midwest farm belt Republicans are unhappy over that.

Senate Democrats already are on record against the administration program. They lined up 32 to 11 last Tuesday behind an unsuccessful move to tack onto a wool bill a provision to continue present high supports. Republicans beat the move with only a few votes to spare. But the real test will come later on the administration's farm price support bill.

President Eisenhower holds the whip hand over the congressional farm bloc. He can punt flexible price supports into force merely by vetoing legislation to extend present high crops which expire at the end of this crop year.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson is slated to make his final plea for the administration's farm program before the House Agriculture committee in testimony next Thursday and Friday. Benson's appearance will complete the group's hearings.

Meanwhile, an informed source said House farm bloc leaders may write a "soil fertility bank plan into their 'single-package' 1954 farm bill.

The fertility bank program would be designed to control acres taken out of wheat, cotton, and other major crops by federal production control orders.

If farmers are free to use these millions of "released acres" as they please, administration officials fear their efforts to cut cotton, wheat and corn surpluses will lead to new surplus in the soil for future needs.

CONVENTION OPENS

JONESBORO (AP)—More than 500 delegates were expected here today as the Arkansas Christian Churches opened the first business session of their four-day convention.

Three banquets—one each for men, women and young people—kicked off the convention last night. The meeting ends Wednesday.

ation" at the 56th annual Arkansas Bar Association convention here May 13-14.

Kefauver A Tennessee Democrat who unsuccessfully sought the Democratic presidential nomination in 1952, headed the much publicized Senate crime probe in 1951.

He will speak at 11 a. m. on the final day of the convention.

Ray Forrester, a Little Rock native and dean of Tulane University Law School at New Orleans, will outline the "History and Function of Congressional Investigation."

Musial Slams Five Homers in Two Games

By CARL LUNDQUIST

United Press Sports Writer

St. Louis (The Man) Musial can't get into the Hall of Fame until he finally takes off that Cardinal uniform for the last time, but the slender slugger from Donora, Pa., is certain to move in there with the immortals some day.

Manly Stanley, who already has his name in the official red book of baseball 12 times with batting achievements, added three more little lines of type into the statistics yesterday when he crashed five home runs in a doubleheader.

As the Cardinals defeated the Giants, 10-6, then lost 9-7, the Duke from Donora drilled three home runs and a single in the first game and added two more homers in the second. That gave him the mark over six players who previously had hit four homers in a doubleheader. It also gave him the most total bases for a doubleheader, 21, and a tie for the record of five homers in two consecutive games.

In the opener, Musial drove in six runs and his final homer with two men on base snapped a 6-6 tie and clinched the victory. Rocky Wally Moon and Tom Alston also hit first game St. Louis homers.

In the second game Ray J. Janski homered for the Cardinals and Bobbly Hoffman got one for the Giants while Monte Irvin, Whitey Lockman, and Wes Westrum hit first game New York round trippers to no avail. The Giants made eight runs in the fourth inning to clinch the nightcap.

The Pirates also racked up eight runs in the first inning to defeat the Cubs, 10-10, after losing, 5-3, while the Phillies edged Cincinnati, 4-3. In the American League the White Sox blanked the A's 4-0 and Don Johnson's two-hit pitch, 3-2, then lost 2-1, while Cleveland won a pair from Washington, 6-4. The Yankees outpointed Detroit 12-4, then lost 4-0 in five innings.

Pittsburgh had its best batting spree of the year, in its victory at Chicago, hammering seven pitchers for 18 hits including home runs by Frank Thomas and Bob Skidner. Thomas also hit three doubles and batted seven consecutive
